Requirements

The Busch Wildlife Sanctuary volunteer program has a 3 month commitment with a shift (4 hours) a week requirement. We are dedicated to educating our volunteers and with that comes a lot of training. Making this commitment will ensure enough time for training and being able to be fully involved in the rehabilitation process.

Risk Factors

Volunteering at the Busch Wildlife Sanctuary can be a very rewarding experience. Volunteers will have the opportunity to meet other people with similar interests, learn about nature and wildlife, help injured animals, and assist the Sanctuary in teaching visitors about Florida's natural resources.

Even though many safety features have been installed in the animal enclosures, working with wild animals can be dangerous. The Sanctuary's staff will do their best to help volunteers learn about working with these types of animals. However, because volunteers often work in close proximity to live animals there is always the potential to be injured, bitten or scratched. Simply being aware of this fact, using common sense, taking proper care as you work, and asking staff for assistance when you have a question will go a long way towards preventing any injuries.

Although most of the permanent residences at the Sanctuary have received vaccinations, the injured animal patients that are brought in for care have not. By volunteering to work at the Busch Wildlife Sanctuary, you must understand that you are accepting certain risks. It is impossible for the Sanctuary to guarantee your safety while you are volunteering your time. We welcome volunteers to donate their time, but they must do so at their own risk!

Volunteers must sign the Certification and the Waiver and Release below before they can begin volunteering their time. Parental signature is also required if the volunteer is under 18 years of age.

Certification

I understand that this waiver includes any claims based on negligence, action or inaction of any of the above parties.
